

2. What is an Indigenous Land Use Agreement?

Information about the Taungurung Traditional Owner Settlement Act 2010 agreement

An Indigenous Land Use Agreement (ILUA) is entered into under the Native Title Act 1993. It is made between a native title group (people who hold, or may hold, native title in an area) and other people, organisations or governments.

An ILUA was included in the suite of settlement agreements reached between the Taungurung and the State of Victoria.

What is the purpose of the Taungurung settlement agreement's ILUA?

The Taungurung settlement agreement's ILUA binds all native title holders to the settlement agreements and confirms that Taungurung Traditional Owners agree to forgo other Native Title Act 1993 processes, such as for 'future acts' by agreeing to alternative processes under a Land Use Activity Agreement. The ILUA also records that the Taungurung agree not to make future native title or compensation applications.

Following a notification process, in April 2020 the ILUA was registered by the National Native Title Tribunal (NNTT), in accordance with the Native Title Act 1993. More information on ILUAs is available on the NNTT website: <http://www.nntt.gov.au/>
